

Daffodil Ball

Photos by Allen McInnis

The annual Daffodil Ball was held at Windsor Station in Montreal to benefit the Canadian Cancer Society. Featuring the theme of Picasso, the many guests from the country's political, social, and corporate worlds enjoyed the décor of primary colors, Cubism, and the artist's Spanish heritage, as well as a replica of his studio and a Picasso human canvas. The evening's performers included digital artist Jeremy Sutton, Emmy Award-winning guitarist Benise, dance group Les Cubistes, and dance band 1945. The event raised over $1.3 million, bringing the gala's total raised to $35.2 million in 26 years.
